

My understanding is that the airways are considered public and that broadcasters have an obligation to serve the public interest. Further the FCC is suppose the see to it that the public interest is in fact being served. In this vein, I think it is important that this matter should be given public consideration. I know a group of senators have requested time for congress to debate this issue. I think the public interest would be best served by giving them a opportunity to do so. It is a public matter and they are our representatives. I would like for them to have some input in this matter. I do not think, myself, that the public interest would be well served by having the control of broadcast media in fewer hands.
